Take advantage of our offer and subscribe now! We will inform you of the start date of the service in connection with the subscription.

If your property has a VDSL2 connection, you need a VDSL2 modem (see page 2 for further information).

If your property has an ETHERNET connection, you can connect your device to the Ethernet connector and no modem is required. For a wireless connection, you need a modem or another WLAN router. See the brochure on connecting to the internet for instructions (Page 3).

Elisa cable TV

The building has Elisa cable TV, which you are automatically connected to. To watch television, you need a DVB-C set-top box and/or television. If you already have a cable converter box, you can access the channels by reverting the device to the factory settings before performing a channel search. Further information is available in the attached brochure, your device's user manual, and online at www.elisa.fi/kaapeli-tv

Your current connection

- If you already have an internet connection from Elisa or Saunalahti, mention it to the sales person in the shop or fill in the information in the online subscription form. This enables you to retain the services included in your existing contract, such as your email account. If you do not set up a new subscription, your existing contract will remain in effect.
- If you have a contract on a fixed-line internet connection with another provider, remember to terminate this contract.

Modem

You need a VDSL2 modem for the new connection. You can check the user manual of your existing modem to see whether the device has VDSL2 connectivity.

You can order a new VDSL2 modem when subscribing to the internet connection. The device will be posted to your home address. With this ready-to-use device you can also access a wireless connection. You can find the name of the connection (SSID) and password (WPA key) on the bottom of the device. Connect the modem to the telephone plug in accordance with the instructions immediately or at the latest when your new contract enters into force.

You can also acquire a VDSL2 modem from a provider other than Elisa. Ensure that the modem meets the connection's technical requirements. For further information on the requirements, visit saunalahti.fi/lahdentalot/
